This new programme designed specifically for Boards of Governors/Management in Scotland's colleges, developed in conjunction with the Institute of Directors (IoD) and representatives from college boards was launched earlier in 2008 at a conference held at Cumbernauld College attended by board members from over 30 Scottish colleges.

The Governance Development Programme focuses on three key elements which reflect both the essential requirements and this broader role. The first element covers aspects relating to corporate governance, strategic leadership and continuous improvement delivered through a National Conference proposed for spring/summer 2009 as well as a series of three regional workshops which will be delivered with IoD Scotland. The workshops are designed to provide an opportunity for board members from different colleges to meet, share experience and build on good practice.
